Wright State Women's Studies Department is accepting applications for their show January 28-30, 2016. The theme is quilts with a story. MVAQN has volunteered to present the Dayton Landmark show and offer to exhibit those quilts. Rosemary will be the point person for MVAQN but if a member would like to show one of their quilts as an individual please contact Linda Morgan (775-4818) (lindamorgan@wrights.edu) for an application.

- New Business:
Ronnie noted that a recent post she made on the MVAQN Facebook page was "liked" by Carolyn Mazloomi (<http://www.carolynlmazloomi.com/>). This indicates that our Facebook page is reaching an audience and perhaps we should make sure there is some kind of posting on the page on a regular basis. If you have an image or information posted to the MVAQN Facebook page you can send them to one of the administrators; Pam Geisel, Karla Bobo, or Ronnie Doyal.

The Epiphany Gallery at South Park United Methodist Church invites MVAQN members to hang an exhibit during 2016. These quilts can be from a group of individuals, 2 or 3 together or by a single individual. If you would like to do this, please contact Marylyn Doyle at mhdoyle.oh2@gmail.com.

Dayton Art Institute will have two exhibits with a fiber connection. One is “American Sampler” with work by Grandma Moses. This exhibit will be up From November 21, 2015 to February 21, 2016 in the Special Exhibits Gallery. The second is “Visions and Dreams: Threaded Works by Mary Borkowski”, it will be up from October 17, 2015 to February 28, 2016 in the South Gallery, Lower Level.
